This database is taken from Ofcom's Sitefinder database, the Government's database of mobile phone base stations. The last update to this database was applied in May 2012, although some operators ceased providing updates some years before then. Neither Ofcom nor Groundsure can accept any liability for any inaccuracies or omissions in the data provided within Sitefinder. The most recent update is based on the following datasets received at the specified times by Ofcom: O2 (May 2012), Network Rail (April 2012), Hutchison (February 2012), Vodafone (October 2011), Airwave (February 2010), Orange (February 2010) and T-Mobile (August 2005). Sites added since these dates will not appear in the database.

Mobile phone masts planning records

Planning permission has been sought for a new mobile phone mast within 237m of the property.

As this information is normally updated quarterly, the mast could already have been built or may be in the planning stages. Further details on the progress of the application should be available on the Local Authority's planning website.

Radon

The property is in a radon affected area, meaning the area has a general radon level above the radon Action Level. In order to determine if there is a problem at your property, a radon measurement in the building must be taken. Access to a testing service and further information on radon is available from Public Health England (PHE) or www.ukradon.org. Radon is a colourless, odourless radioactive gas present in all areas of the United Kingdom, usually at levels that pose a negligible risk. However, the property is situated in an area where levels of radon can be much higher and pose a health risk. High levels of radon can cause lung cancer, particularly for smokers and ex-smokers. The higher the level and the longer the period of exposure, the greater the risk. If you are buying a currently occupied property in a radon affected area, ask the present owner whether radon levels have been measured and, if they have, whether the results were above the radon Action Level. If so, what remedial measures were installed, were radon levels re-tested and did the re-testing confirm the measures have been effective.

This data is sourced from the British Geological Survey/Public Health England.

Planning Constraints

Visual and Cultural Designations

Conservation Areas

Conservation Areas exist to protect special architecture and historic interest in an area. It may mean that the property is located in or close to a beautiful or architecturally interesting place to live. There may be extra planning controls restricting some development. This particularly applies to developing the outside of the building and any trees at the property.

Listed Buildings

The presence of listed buildings means there will be extra control over what changes can be made to that building's interior and exterior. If the property itself is a listed building, owners will need to apply for Listed Building Consent for most types of work that affect the 'special architectural or historic interest' of the property and the work approved may increase costs.

Registered Parks and Gardens

Registered parks or gardens are a designed landscape considered of historic interest.

Although the inclusion of a historic park or garden on the register in itself brings no additional statutory controls, local authorities are required by central government to consider registration material in planning terms, so local planning authorities must take into account the historic interest of the site when determining whether or not to grant planning permission.

Air Quality

Modelled Air Quality Readings

Defra publishes Background Concentration Maps of airborne pollutants, nitrous oxides (NO_2 and NO_x) and particulate matter (PM_{10} and $PM_{2.5}$), for each year for Local Air Quality Management (LAQM) purposes.

The map for each year is modelled based on air quality monitoring and meteorological data gathered in a reference year. The current reference year is 2015. The maps divide the country into sectors. The concentrations for each sector account for pollution emitted within the sector itself and pollution that arrives from elsewhere, for example blown in by the wind.

The data presented here is the total estimated concentration of each pollutant in the sector that the site resides in, and the air quality objectives for each pollutant, which are taken from Defra's LAQM Technical Guidance document.

Pollutant	Local modelled reading (annual average)	UK Air Quality Objective (annual average)	UK Air Quality Objective (variable)
NO _x	31 μg/m³	$30 \mu g/m^3$	N/A
NO ₂	21 μg/m³	40 μg/m³	200 $\mu g/m^3$ (per hour - not be exceeded more than 18 times a year)
PM ₁₀	17 μg/m³	40 μg/m³	$50 \mu g/m^3$ (per 24hr period - not be exceeded more than 35 times a year)
PM _{2.5}	12 μg/m³	25 μg/m³	N/A

Notes

Pollutant	Details
NO_x	NO ₂ and NO are both oxides of nitrogen and together are referred to as nitrogen oxides (NO _x)
NO ₂	Nitric oxide (NO) is mainly derived from road transport emissions and other combustion processes such as the electricity supply industry. NO is not considered to be harmful to health. However once released to the atmosphere NO is usually very rapidly oxidized mainly by ozone (O_3) to nitrogen dioxide (NO_2) which can be harmful to health.
PM ₁₀	Particulate Matter less than $10\mu m$ in aerodynamic diameter. Particles less than or equal to 10 micrometers in diameter are so small that they can get into the lungs potentially causing serious health problems. Ten micrometers is less than the width of a single human hair.
PM _{2.5}	Particulate Matter less than 2.5µm in aerodynamic diameter. Particles less than or equal to 10 micrometers in diameter are so small that they can get into the lungs potentially causing serious health problems. Particles of this size can only be seen with an electron microscope.

Planning data limitations

The Planning Applications section of this report contains data provided under licence from Glenigan, who are the largest provider of planning data in the UK. As with any dataset of this size and complexity there are limitations, which are highlighted below.

The location of applications are represented in this report as single points and are derived from either the grid references provided by the applicant on the planning application form or by address finding software using the site address. This single point may not represent the nearest border of the development and may fall outside of the development boundary. The information contained within this report should be used in conjunction with a visit to the relevant local authority's website to determine the exact location of the development and how this may impact the subject property.

Groundsure have incorporated a dynamic search radius to ensure the most relevant data is presented. This variable search distance is based on House of Commons Library data which categorises areas according to the size of the settlement. Groundsure have distilled these into three core categories. These categories are large urban, urban and rural and the following search distances apply:

- Large urban: 250m for large projects, 50m for small projects and house extensions
- Urban: 500m for large projects, 250m for small projects and 50m for house extensions
- Rural: 750m for large projects, 500m for small projects and 125m for house extensions

Please note, the search radius assigned to this property is detailed within the planning section of the report.

Due to differing methodologies adopted by Local Authorities, some planning applications identified as having been refused may have subsequently been granted on appeal without appearing as such within this report. As such, if any refused applications be identified within this report, or should the existence or absence of a planning application, consent or similar have a material impact with regard to the decision to purchase a property, the client or beneficiary should make independent thorough enquiries of the Local Authority. Groundsure have excluded certain records of the publicly available data from this report which may have created duplications of reference to the same application. This includes, but is not limited to, data relating to applications such as amendments or variations of planning applications, discharge of conditions, or other associated applications. The report also excludes information on Lawful Development Certificates, Tree Preservation Orders, and other applications that are considered minor in terms of the level of construction. Additionally, an area of land may be identified for development within the local authority development plan, but for which no formal planning application exists. As such these are not included within the search.

Groundsure provides a web link to individual planning records in this report, but over time Local Authorities may have altered their website structure or record storage and so not all links may still be active. In the case of broken links, customers can use the planning application reference to search the Local Authority planning website manually. Due to data collection methods and processing time, there may be a period of up to 10 days between the application being published on the local authority website and appearing within the Groundsure report.

It is important to note the terms and conditions under which the report was sold, and in particular, whilst Groundsure makes every effort to ensure that data is sourced from reliable providers, it is unable to guarantee that the information is accurate, complete or up to date. Groundsure shall not be liable for any losses or damages incurred by the client or beneficiary, including but not limited to any losses or damages that arise as a result of any error, omission or inaccuracy in any part of the Groundsure Materials where such part is based on any Third Party Content or any reasonable interpretation of Third Party Content.
